ABSTRACT

Data on the 1970-79 conditions of Ontario universities that were used in the derivation of macro-indicators are presented. The supporting data cover the following areas: operating revenue in Ontario universities; operating expenditures; distribution of academic salaries, nonacademic salaries, employee benefits; and nonsalary operating expenditures; eligible full-time equivalent enrollment and basic income units; full-time faculty and average salaries of full-time faculty in professorial ranks and index of academic salaries; and average weekly earnings. Overall objectives of the data collection, development of macro-indicators and analyses were as follows: (1) to measure the real resources available to the Ontario university system as a function of the volume of activity over time; (2) to compare trends in the resources made available in other jurisdictions and to other provincially funded activities; and (3) to measure the changes in resource distribution within institutions, using data comparable between institutions. NOTES FOR 1970-71

1. Based on net teaching service performed.

2. FTE of part-time enrolment is calculated by dividing course registrations by 6.

3. Includes FTE of graduate summer school.

4. BIU's for church related affiliates shown at 100%.

5. Includes minima-maxima adjustments for graduate entitlement.

6. FTE of full-time enrolment is derived by summing enrolment in the 3 terms of co-operative and trimester programmes and dividing by 2.

7. Excludes undergraduate off-campus registrations.

Figures include staff on sabbatical but exclude deans and directors whose responsibilities and salaries are equivalent to deans, staff not paid according to regular salary scales, staff on leave of absence and visiting professors. Data for church related affiliates are also excluded.

2. Includes full professors, associate professors and assistant professors.

3. Although average salary figures were reported by Statistics Canada on an "academic year basis", in this table they have been converted to a "fiscal year basis" by 5/6 of the current year average salary and 1/6 of the average salary for the previous year.

4. As this institution reported average salaries on a "fiscal year basis" to Statistics Canada, the conversion outlined above was not required for this institution.
